VOLLEY BALL LEAGUE MAY BE FORMED

Men of Torrance Invited To Take Part in New Sport Scheduled for Evening High Courts.

The Baptist church basketball team, champions of the church league, will play the final game of its schedule on Friday night at the Torrance gym.

This city, which is closing a very successful season, plans to take up volleyball next and has challenged the world to a series of games for the championship of Torrance and points west.

In an effort to promote interest in volleyball which is an ideal sport, not too strenuous, to provide exercise and amusement for the tired business man, Principal George W. Clark, head of the evening high school, has issued invitations to a number of men's clubs in the city asking them to enter teams in a proposed city league.

Courts and all necessary equipment are furnished by the courtesy of the school board, so that the players need only to appear and sign up for the game.

Rotary, Kiwanis, American Legion, and a number of other men's organizations have been invited, but according to Mr. Clark membership in an organization is not necessary to join in these games.

Competition will be open to anyone who wishes to join up with a team. Applications should be made to Mr. Clark at the evening high school.

Some disappointment was felt that the proposed tennis tournament did not materialize. The continued cold weather made evening play less pleasant.

However four men and three women turned out to sign up for the tournament, and should the weather turn warmer so that the sport has a greater appeal to other players these seven will be used as a nucleus to build up a good list of tournament players.

Tennis courts are available to the public any evening at the high school. They are well lighted and equipped. A number of players are using them regularly.

Fishing Good On Ship and Pier This Week

HERMOSA BEACH, May 29.—The first yellowtail caught on the big Olympic Barge this year was brought in Monday by Ed Smith of Los Angeles. Yellowtail are very highly prized among anglers as they are considered to be one of the gamiest fighters found in these waters. Smith's catch was a small one measuring about 2 1/2 feet.

None of the Olympic anglers came back empty handed this week. Mackerel, sandbars, scupin halibut and sole were all biting heavily.

Pier angling was excellent with several 10-pound halibut being brought in, as well as huge catches of perch and mackerel.

Yellowtail were plentiful on board the live bait boats. Quite a large number of barracuda and bass were also caught.

Devastating Billy Goat Butts of Wrestler Draw Caustic Comments

BY RONALD W. WAGONER

United Press Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES.—Those devastating "billy goat butts" by means of which Gus Sonnenberg, former Dartmouth collegian, disposed of Everett Marshall here recently when the Colorado youth tried to remove the diamond belt Gus holds as the symbol of the heavyweight wrestling champion, have caused considerable discussion since the match.

Sports writers of Los Angeles, most of whom take their wrestling as a sport, not a business, went so far as to ask through their columns what, if anything, the California State Athletic Commission meant to do in classifying the terrific lunges Sonnenberg brought from the football field to the wrestling mat.

Mark Kelly of the Examiner agreed that the "flying tackle" might be within the rules, but added the "founders" of this funny racket never dreamed that such an unchubby cub would be torn into the game, else they would have specifically legislated it out of the picture.

Kelly compared the ethics of the butting in wrestling with tripping, piling up on prostrate players and other tactics which have been ruled off the football field.

In A. Cronin, sports editor of the Daily News, likened the Sonnenberg attack to a rule in boxing which would permit a fighter to drive a right flat to the chin of a dazed opponent resting on a knee while the referee counted over him.

"Such a fighter," Cronin wrote, "would be fouled out. Yet here is Sonnenberg with a lay enemy stretched out, and his bread basket drive right into his broad basket and bumping him somewhat hors de combat."

Most of the writers, however, declare that while they like to attempt to "dope out" results in football, baseball, boxing and even horse racing, the wrestling "racket" of Promoter Lou Daro has them gasping a bit.

When Marshall lost to Sonnenberg by dropping two straight falls via the "flying tackle" route after winning the first fall, about 12,000 of the 17,000 customers, who paid $9.75 to watch the exhibition, believed their eyes deceived them as the Colorado grappler had been considered almost a cinch to win.

The after effects of the Marshall-Sonnenberg affair were said to be said to a great number of fans, who were inclined to wager on the Rocky Mountain product.

The sport writers did not attempt to offer an explanation or consolation to this great army, but two pertinent suggestions did appear in the sport columns of the Los Angeles newspapers.

"And again and ALWAYS," said one writer, "don't bet on wrestling."

"Let's get this wrestling business settled one way or another," was the second comment. "Why not take Sonnenberg and Richard Schikat, toss them into a ring and see what happens?"

Schikat, recognized by New York and Pennsylvania, claims the same heavyweights that Sonnenberg cherishes. He said that Sonnenberg failed to meet because they are aligned with different "wrestling trusts."

WOODLAND (UP)—Auctioneering off a pig, San Schwab, said, "Who'll make it $15?" "Sold to the auctioneer," said the crowd jokingly. Schwab, being a good sport, paid $15 for the porker and took it home.

AMERICAN GIRL WILL ENTER JUNGLES ALONE

California Student Is Intent Upon Studying Native Brazilian Indians

RIO DE JANEIRO (UP)—Braving, alone, all the dangers and uncertainties which the Brazilian jungle has to offer those who break into it, an American woman, Miss Elizabeth Steen, student of the University of California, has determined to penetrate to the core of South America to study the "Tapirape" Indians. These she hopes will furnish her with ample material for the anthropological research work in which she is engaged.

"If I don't succeed in getting near this particular tribe, I am anxious to find others with as interesting features," said Miss Steen.

Four years ago, in spite of having been told diametrically and frequently that it would be "impossible" for her to accomplish what strong men had failed to do, Miss Steen determined that she would prepare herself for a trip to the unknown interior of South America.

She has made a study of the racial types to be found there. Since then she has undergone intensive preparation, beginning with a course in Tropical Diseases at a San Francisco university. That she "roughed it" in the Rocky Mountains for a while in New Mexico, where she carefully observed the habits of the Indians of that region.

When, someone told her she couldn't shoot, and would need to, Miss Steen applied herself to that art and gathered prizes for good marksmanship. She studied pictorial records of her trip.

A few years ago Miss Steen came to Brazil and visited the Indians in the state of Espirito Santo, east north of Rio, returning again to the United States.

"All people to whom I have spoken about this trip have shaken their heads ominously, and then helped me all they could, and where everyone very kind, and the Brazilian people particularly sympathetic, although not optimistic. I think, however, that there is a better chance of this expedition coming out successfully for the very reason that I am going alone, accompanied only by a competent guide. It is known that nothing saves an abyss or hostility more quickly among those Indians than a large, complicated party. I want to get near the Indians, and study them from within.

"As for preparation, I have left nothing to chance that I could help. I will go ahead, and try to make a success of it."

Miss Steen will leave shortly for Sao Paulo, where she will purchase the necessary provisions, and then proceed to the states of Goyaz and Matto Grosso.

Relief From Curse Of Constipation
A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Ortolin has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or suffering from constipation. Stop suffering from constipation. Buy a Rexall Ortolin at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Dole Drug Co.—Adv.

Same Old Jinx, Says Tansey, Sunday Game Lost In Ninth

Triple and Frenchie's out, but the rally died in its infancy.

Six home runs, five of which were poled out by the Steamer crew marked this game, but more than half of these hits were homers by courtesy of the ground rules, which allowed two bases for a hit into right field, bleachers and a homer if the ball went over the second fence. A stiff breeze blowing from the west gave Alabama a lot of trouble in left field as the wind blew fly balls over his head and made it almost impossible to judge the speed and direction of the hit.

Mae in center made a couple of good catches taking Menges first hit off his shotguns and falling headlong to the ground. Biggs for the Steamer outfit was the heavy hitter of the day, getting a homer, three two-base hits and a single in five trips to the plate.
